Rev. Fletcher Harper an Episcopal priest, is Executive Director of GreenFaith, an interfaith environmental organization that works with diverse faith communities internationally. An award-winning spiritual writer and widely-recognized preacher on the environment, he is the author of GreenFaith: Mobilizing God's People to Protect the Earth. A graduate of Princeton University and Union Theological Seminary, Harper served as a parish priest for ten years prior to joining GreenFaith.

In 2014, over 400,000 people took to the streets in NYC for the People's Climate March, the largest climate mobilization in history. The People's Climate Movement, which emerged out of the march in New York, is planning a mobilization in Washington in April 2017, during the first 100 days of the new administration.

Environmental, community, faith and social justice groups have worked together here in our region to oppose the Atlantic Coast and Mountain Valley Pipelines. We need our work on the pipelines to be part of this important mobilization next year. We can show the next administration that we want policies that will protect the climate, the safety and the health of the people, create green jobs, and provide clean air and water for our communities.

Join Rev. Fletcher Harper, a member of the People's Climate Movement Steering Committee, to learn about this mobilization and to connect it with organizing efforts in our region.
